RECRUITMILITARY understands that due to military operational demands, it can be challenging for service members and military spouses to navigate their job search. Through engagement with military installations and military family support organizations, Team Transition will connect veterans, transitioning military members, National Guard and Military Spouses with organizations looking to hire these important groups.

The Team Transition Initiative also allows RecruitMilitary to cast a broader spotlight on our work with the military spouse community. There are almost 700,000 military spouses in the United States. Of those nearly 25% are unemployed. RecruitMilitary is actively addressing this astronomically high unemployment rate.

Through the Team Transition Initiative, the RecruitMilitary Team is working to equip the entire military family unit with the tools to help themselves effectively obtain satisfying civilian employment.
